Jewel David Ministries, Inc of Elizabethtown is a not for profit 501(c)3 offering hope and healing to women and families through affordable counseling and services. The counseling services are provided on a sliding scale basis allowing the client to pay what they can afford. While they are not affiliated with a specific church or denomination, they are Christian based.

The counseling center is subsidized from the proceeds of their wholly owned thrift shop located at 155 E. High St and from advertising revenue generated by their free positive content paper magazine called the THRIFTEE, Stewarding Our Resources. The not for profit organization aspires to be self sustaining in an attempt to avoid government or grant dependence.

They consider themselves social entrepreneurs with goals and vision centered around protecting the heart of their ministry by surrounding themselves with income sources they can control and multiple points of community engagement. This multi-tiered approach allows them to address unmet community needs while impacting local economic development. Using for profit modeling within the not for profit, they are developing reliable sources of income to build a self sustaining ministry with controllable resources.

They have three unpaid opportunities for you to consider:

- Business Communications Intern
  - Explore and collaborate in their emerging social entrepreneur centered not for profit
  - Assist the organization with marketing message/branding and visibility campaigns
  - Work with President in the newly launched capital campaign
  - Social media and content messaging
  - Assist in coordinating and marketing of smaller planned fundraisers

- Business Development Intern
  - Participate in the “in process” building of a self sustaining not for profit organization
  - Work with the President on the newly launched capital campaign
  - Assist in the development of granting foundation proposals
  - Target market advertising sales and distribution for the positive content paper magazine

- Market Research Intern
  - Assist the President with market feasibility and research for the business plan development for a new business start up (Bakery) in Elizabethtown
  - Develop target marketing campaigns, messaging, initial identity and infrastructure

The internships are available immediately and will continue through February 29, 2012. The work schedule is flexible [will accommodate student’s schedule] and be 6-8 hours per week. They will consider sophomores, juniors, or seniors.
