Plenary Session
Campus Labs, Part 2: How to Read and Interpret Reports and Apply Feedback from Evaluations to Improve Instruction
Chase Cookson, IDEA Campus and Faculty Development Specialist

This training workshop focuses on faculty reports, with attention primarily given to the navigational elements of the system. In addition to focusing on where different data points are in the online platform, we discuss how to use that data to make improvements to a given course. This session is designed primarily for faculty, but administrators who will be reviewing faculty reports should attend as well.

Learning Outcome(s): Upon completing this session, participants should be able to: 1. Find individual course section reports; 2. Find summary reporting; 3. Use reporting elements to improve teaching; 4. Use reporting elements to document teaching for evaluation
